MONDAY NIGHT BOOK DISCUSSIONS

January 12

The Ice Cream Queen of Orchard Street by Susan Jane Gilman

As a child in 1913, Malka Treynovsky flees Russia for New York with her family—only to be crippled and abandoned in the streets as soon as she arrives. Spanning 70 years, Lillian's rise is inextricably linked to the course of American history.

February 9

The Beautiful Things That Heaven Bears by Dinaw Mengestu

Seventeen years after fleeing the Ethiopian revolution, Sepha Stephanos runs a grocery store in a poor African-American neighborhood in Washington, D.C., where he reflects on his past and the differences between his prospects and the life he imagined.

March 9

The Catcher in the Rye by J. D. Salinger

Since his debut in 1951 as The Catcher in the Rye, Holden Caulfield has been synonymous with "cynical adolescent." Holden narrates the story of a couple of days in his sixteen-year-old life, just after he's been expelled from prep school, in a slang that sounds edgy even today and keeps this novel on banned book lists.

April 13

Quiet: the power of introverts in a world that can't stop talking by Susan Cain

This book demonstrates how introverted people are misunderstood and undervalued in modern culture, charting the rise of extrovert ideology while sharing anecdotal examples of how to use introvert talents to adapt to various situations.

May 11

Breakfast with Buddha by Roland Merullo.

At the behest of his sister, Otto Ringling finds himself reluctantly accompanying her guru, an enigmatic Mongolian monk, on a trip through Middle America to their childhood home. Gradually, skepticism yields to amazement as he realizes that his companion might just be the real thing.

June 8

Survival of Rural America: small victories and bitter harvests by Richard E. Wood

On the high plains of Kansas, the future of rural America is at stake. Small farming communities are under siege. Richard Wood takes a closer look at what has happened in several Kansas farming towns and shows that there is much more depth and diversity to rural life than meets the eye. A 2009 Kansas Notable Book.

July 13

The Boys in the Boat by Daniel Brown

Out of the depths of the Depression comes an irresistible story about beating the odds and finding hope in the most desperate of times. Nine working-class boys from the American West showed the world at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin what true grit really meant.

August 10

The Light Between the Oceans by M. L. Stedman

A novel set on a remote Australian island, where a childless couple live quietly running a lighthouse, until a boat carrying a baby washes ashore. Vivid characters and gorgeous descriptions of the solitude of Janus Rock and of the unpredictable Australian frontier create a perfect backdrop for the tale of longing, loss, and the overwhelming love for a child.

September 14

Unbroken: a World War II story of survival, resilience and redemption by Laura Hillenbrand

The true story of a U.S. airman who survived when his bomber crashed into the sea during World War II, spent forty-seven days adrift in the ocean before being rescued by the Japanese Navy, and was held as a prisoner until the end of the war.

October 12

Still Alice by Lisa Genova

Feeling at the top of her game when she is suddenly diagnosed with early onset Alzheimer's disease, Harvard psychologist Alice Howland struggles to find meaning and purpose in her life as her concept of self gradually slips away.

November 9

The Kitchen House by Kathleen Grissom

When a white servant girl violates the order of plantation society, she unleashes a tragedy that exposes the worst and best in the people she has come to call her family. Orphaned while onboard a ship from Ireland to America, seven-year-old Lavinia arrives on the steps of a tobacco plantation where she is to live and work with the slaves of the kitchen house.

December 14

Forgotten Garden by Kate Morton

Abandoned on a 1913 voyage to Australia, Nell is raised by a dock master and his wife who do not tell her until she is an adult that she is not their child, leading Nell to return to England and eventually hand down her quest for answers to her granddaughter.
